

Kathryn Roszak's Danse Lumière and The Jazzschool Present:

MYSTERIOSOS

An evening with Kathryn Roszak's Danse Lumière
and poet
Michael McClure
with saxophonist
George Brooks

Friday March 2, 2012 at 8 p.m.

at the Jazzschool
2087 Addison Street ▪ Berkeley CA

Kathryn Roszak's Danse Lumière creates dances that travel through the visceral, sensual, jazzy and political terrain of Michael McClure's poetry. Images of social justice erupt along with intimate visions of the natural world. Michael McClure is a key poet of San Francisco's beat generation. Mystery and metamorphosis are evoked as dancers move amongst visual artist Amy Evans McClure's horse sculptures. Danse Lumière is recognized for adapting great works of literature to the stage through the fusion of dance, music, and theater. Roszak's choreography "interprets poetry in eloquent physical language." (Contra Costa Times) Featuring music by the renowned saxophonist George Brooks. Los Angeles-based dancer and Danse Lumière guest artist Lissa Resnick will join Roszak for this premiere performance.
